

Joel Sanchez is an accomplished Information Systems Manager with a robust background in technology and photography, blending technical acumen with a creative eye. Joel's career has been marked by a passion for innovation and a commitment to leveraging cutting-edge solutions for organizational success. With a keen eye for detail and a strategic mindset, he has excelled in managing information systems, ensuring seamless operations, and driving technological advancements for various organizations such as MARIATASH, ZARA, Fordham University's IT department and small family owned businesses. Joel Sanchez stands out as a dedicated professional, navigating the dynamic landscape of technology with finesse and contributing significantly to the success of the organizations he serves.